MEMORANDUM

FROM: Abe Krash

RE: Philip Morris -- Barclay

Matthew Myers telephoned me this afternoon and said that Brown & Williamson had advised the FTC that it did not wish to proceed with the visit next week to the Philip Morris Richmond plant.

Myers also said that the Commission wanted to add two additional names of experts to the four persons they had previously asked us about. They would like Philip Morris' view concerning Dietrich Hoffman, who is associated with the American Health Foundation and who has been suggested by FTC staff members, and Lynn Kozlowski, a consultant to the Canadian government. Myers said he recognized that we might feel Kozlowski was unduly biased.

I asked Myers whether he was satisfied that Brown & Williamson had had a full opportunity to examine the apparatus at the meeting on Wednesday in Boston. Myers said that he wanted to thank Philip Morris for its complete cooperation and there could be no question that Brown & Williamson had had every opportunity to study the apparatus. Myers was highly complimentary about an explanation which Harry Katz had given at the outset of the demonstration.

Myers told me that he expected to receive a submission from Brown & Williamson early next week and he would then be in touch with me to advise me of the next step which the Commission proposed to take.

I telephoned Carl Adkins this afternoon and relayed the substance of the foregoing conversation to him.
